Legal Representation
Most employers and insurance companies are supportive of living kidney donation, but we have seen situations where they are not so supportive. Some donors may lose their health insurance or see increases in their premiums due to donating a kidney. In one case, the NKR was instrumental in winning a wrongful termination case when a donor involved in an NKR swap was fired for taking time off to donate a kidney. If you donate your kidney and are wrongfully terminated from your employment, see a rise in insurance premiums or lose your health insurance as a result of your donation, the NKR will stand behind you.

Coverage for Uncovered Complications
If a kidney donor experiences post-surgical complications (e.g., hernia, etc.) related to kidney donation, these medical costs should be paid for by the recipient’s medical insurance. Sometimes insurance companies limit the time that they will pay for donor complications or ask the donor for an additional co-payment for donor complications. This is wrong. Through the Donor Protections Program, the NKR ensures that donors never pay for a post-surgical complication that is a result of their kidney donation.

Reimbursement for Travel, Lodging & Lost Wages for Uncovered Complications
If a kidney donor experiences post-surgical complications related to kidney donation, they may need to travel back to the center where they donated to receive additional treatment, which may involve taking extra time off work. Through the Donor Protections Program, the NKR will reimburse donors for travel and lodging expenses as well as up to $1,500 per week in lost wages for work time missed as a result of donation-related complications.
Additional Protection for NKR Paired Exchange Donors

Living Donor Kidney Prioritization

Donors who participate in NKR swaps will receive prioritization for a living donor kidney if they ever need one. Living donor kidneys typically last twice as long as deceased donor kidneys. Any costs that would be normally incurred by the former donor, now recipient, will be subsidized by NKR.
